POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

With bills tumbling into the legislative hopper at a rapidly increasing tempo as the State Legislature nears the end of the short-half of its 1943 session, the war — and war legislation — still dominate the scene at Sacramento and unity of action is still the keynote.

Cynics who predict that "the honeymoon will soon be over," referring to the new accord between the Governor's office and the Legislature, have thus far proved bad prophets. On all vital matters, affecting the state's participation in the war effort, the lawmakers have warmly supported Governor Warren's program — and the Governor's appointments to state offices, thus far, have been received with outspoken approval.

Only in one respect, to date, have the legislators shown an inclination to wander away from the streamlined paths of a war-time, urgency session. The hoped-for reduction in the number of bills submitted probably will not materialize. While it is still too early to determine the exact number of bills which will be tossed into the grist mill, present indications point to about 4,000, a normal crop.

Governor Warren's selection of Colonel Ray Hays of Fresno, former member of the State Senate, as his Adjutant General and head of the State Guard has set the stage for a quick and complete overhaul of California's defense structure. Hays, a thorough-going soldier, has been asked by Governor Warren to draft a program of revamping both the State Guard and the State Militia, and determining their relative places in the defense picture, and it is also expected that he will assist the Governor in reorganizing civilian defense. If present plans mature, men in the Militia will only be called for service in their home communities, while members of the State Guard will be sent into any section of the state where their services may be required.

Amendment of the motor vehicle code to provide for a 35-mile-per-hour speed limit; continuation of the Tenny committee to investigate subversive activities; amendment of the Anti-Alien Land Law to prohibit transfer of property to children of persons ineligible to citizenship; simplification of procedure in getting birth certificates; the setting up of nurseries for the children of war workers in various school districts; changes in the laws governing the employment of women to clear the decks for more women in industry; provision for the use of school children in harvesting the crops; the suspension of make-work restrictions which are aggravating the manpower problem, such as the Full Crew Law;

High P.-T. A. Held Meeting Wednesday, 13th

Mrs. Carl Field presided at the meeting of the Campbell High School P.-T. A. which was held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 13, in the little theater. Mrs. Martin Farnham was the general chairman for the Cambrian school mothers who were in charge of the program for the day.

During the meeting the various chairmen were called upon to report on their committee activities. Named to act on the nominating committee for El Paradiso council was Mrs. Clarence Fagelde with Mrs. Ray Wood as alternate. Of interest to the unit were several announcements made by Willard Van Dyke, principal of the high school.

Miss Barbara Jensen entertained the group with a dance. Her accompanist was Miss Betty Jean Jurras. Miss Elna Petersen gave her second lecture on "Nutrition." She also presented two pupils in a clever skit, "Mrs. Spendthrift vs. Mrs. Pennywise," on the subject of purchasing.

The working of the physical education department and the method of marking the boys in those classes was explained by Herbert Hudson. He also told of the ways in which the classes are organized to train the boys to meet the Army's physical requirements.

During the social hour which followed the meeting, the group was served refreshments by the Cambrian mothers.

Harriet Hope Funeral Rites Tomorrow

Mrs. Harriet A. Hope, a resident of Campbell for the past twelve and a half years, passed away in the hospital Tuesday and services will be held tomorrow (Friday), Jan. 22, at 10 o'clock a. m. from the Amos Williams company in San Jose, with the Rev. J. H. Bennett in charge.

Mrs. Hope was a native of England, coming to the United States at the age of 76. After one year spent in Palo Alto she came to Campbell with her daughter, Constance Carl. She joined the Congregational church here and was a faithful attendant as long as her health permitted.

Other relatives are daughters, Margaret Hope of Palo Alto, Mrs. Alec Spence and Mrs. oe Hughes of England.

changes in pension laws to permit oldsters to work during the emergency without endangering their pension status, and the extension of veterans' benefits to America's fighters of this war — these are some of the many war measures now submitted which will be ready for action when the lawmakers reconvene after the February recess.

McKune is in the Marine Corps Reserve and when he graduates in June, will go to officers training school

Annual Senior Class Play Well Received

The final curtain was rung down on the traditional annual senior class play of Campbell Union High school Friday evening with spirited applause from an enthusiastic audience.

This year's success was directed by Kenneth McDonell and a great deal of praise goes to him for his excellent casting of the difficult roles taken by senior students.

Lois Frisch in the role of Grandma Davis was excellent as was Todd Mansfield in the part of Ralph Hutchinson the 19-year-old scatterbrain with the ambition to be an actor and Eloise Lyons who played the role of the weak-willed and nervous Mrs. Hutchinson. Laurels also go to Alma Valencia who did a fine job of her portrayal of Minerva, the Negro maid. Many noteworthy comments were made for the acting of Joe Prestigiacomo and Ernestine Fahler in their difficult love scenes.

Others commended for their fine performance are Ray Cushman, Elaine Pfeiffer, Anne Marie Wonser, Jean Bocca, Paul Mulcahy, and Ernest Esch.

The success of the play was also due to the good make-up by the drama class and the stage manager, Don Smith, aided by prompters, Jane Gerrans and Doris Fields; the properties and costumes handled by Carol Lantz, Ernest Esch, Charles Murphy, Miss Muriel Carson; and Miss Mary Lewis and the art commission on the scenery.

Kiwanis Club Holds Meeting

W. H. Van Dyke presided Tuesday at his first regular meeting of the Kiwanis club as its president. Carl Field was chairman.

Alvin Long who gave a very realistic demonstration of the "Anatomy of Advertising" or "How to Sell Soap" had his audience quite convinced of his salesmanship.

Next week A. L. Benelisha, acting manager of the United States Social Security board at San Jose will be speaker, Ira Grim will preside as chairman.

Local Boy Receives Past Master's Pin

Louis Hughes received his "past master's" pin at the installation of the new officers of the Mt. Hamilton Juvenile Grange Friday evening.

Mrs. Cordia Hannah, state superintendent of juvenile granges, was the installing officers, assisted by a team made up of past graduates of the juvenile grange.

This ceremony was held as a part of the Mt. Hamilton Subordinate Grange meeting and was beautifully executed. Louis, having just com-

Club Hears Fine Talk on Haciendas And Homes

"Haciendas and Homes" was the topic discussed by Miss Carolyn D. Smiley of Quito road, at the Monday meeting of the Country Women's club.

The speaker, formerly of Boston and a world traveller, is co-owner and co-publisher of the International Review, "World Youth." Her associate is Miss Maude Meigher. The two women came to the valley to live and have been spending the past two years building a house and office of adobe brick with their own hands and the help of a couple of boys. They have used adobe because they wished to "build a place of universal understanding." Mud brick is a most primitive material and has been used for dwellings throughout most of the world where climate permits.

Miss Smiley told how they made the brick and something of the construction of their house. She talked about the use of patios and described some which she had seen in Mexico and India.

Club members were invited to visit the adobe house next summer when the rains and pressure of their work is over.

Miss Ruth Cousins of the high school sang "Because" by Guy d'Hardelot. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Nina Page. A special request was made for "My Hacienda Home" written by Mrs. Conrad Jansen of San Jose.

At the regular business meeting presided over by Mrs. G. E. Jeffers, Mr. F. A. Jacobson, chairman of Red Cross committee, announced that three wool lap robes had been completed and requested crochet needles for the work during business meetings.

The patriotic ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Anthony Jurras and Mrs. Ralph Hyde with Mrs. G. S. Robson at the piano.

Attractive decorations in the club room included large bowls of torch lilies and pampas grass. A lovely embroidered hanging showed picture maps of North and South America.

Mrs. F. A. Jacobson was chairman of the day. She was assisted in arranging the program by Mrs. G. S. Robson, Mrs. M. A. Ross, Mrs. Kenneth McDonell and Mrs. Guy Farley.

pleted his year as master, gave his annual report, which showed some very fine work done by the group this past year. One item in his report showed that these young people had purchased in excess of $600 in bonds and stamps throughout the year. Louis was proud to present the Grange with a "history book" with their six years of work compiled.

BUILDER OF BEAUTY

San Francisco's "Uncle John" is dead. But if ever a man left behind him a monument which will keep his memory green, bringing joy to the generations that come after, that man is John McLaren who wrested from a desert waste of sand dunes the 1,000 verdant acres of Golden Gate Park.

Golden Gate Park is a monument to man's mastery of nature and to the Scottish gardener's faith in beauty and in people—it was McLaren who refused to allow the customary "Keep Off the Grass" signs. In the lodge of the park which he created, where he was superintendent for 56 years and planted a million trees, "Uncle John" quietly died last week, just four years short of a century old.

All Northern and Central Californians who look to San Francisco as "the city" and to Golden Gate Park as "the park" will remember him in peace and honor when next they walk among his flower beds, forests, lakes, waterfalls and pastoral meadows.

SHAVE TAILS?

With the cuffs on men's trousers rationed off with benefit of scissors, Uncle Sam looked around with a gleam in his eye that bodes no good for the length of men's shirts! A drastic cut, the newsmongers say—hinted to be set for one inch below the waist line. Presumably, if they try it out fustest on the makers of the law, the mostest to come off will be a few inches! Because can't you see the Legislators rendering speeches with gestures, the while they keep tucking their shirts back under their belts?

A better idea might be to do without collars on shirts. As to collars, every time we see a sailor, we wonder who tucks his collar in for him when he dons his topcoat, and if that collar has more nuisance than historic value? While we're saving, why not save all that good warm flannel? It's an idea, anyway!

ARMS AROUND THE ARMY

We note with mixed emotions that some Army general or colonel (he must be an isolationist!) is so stoutly determined to keep our men abroad from getting involved in entangling alliances that he has caused a regulation to be posted in Sydney, Australia, forbidding men on leave to "put their arms around a female companion in a public thoroughfare in a manner unbecoming a soldier."

That regulation, it appears to us, runs contrary to all military precedents, as well as all the rules of nature. What in the heck do they expect the boys to do—stack their arms in the barracks, along with their firearms, just because they've got a few hours leave? There's only one "out" that we can find for such shackled men. The regulation says nothing at all about what the girls can do with their arms—and the motto in Sydney, from now on, if the girls really feel for the soldiers, should be "Arms Around the Army!"

AUTO TROUBLE?

If you're an auto-owner you're as acutely auto-conscious this week as you have ever been in your life. You're trying to make your first gas tickets last until—or use them before—Friday when the new coupons become valid. You're trying to get your tires inspected. If you've already had them looked over, you may, have to get your wheels aligned or go through some other chore and expense before your inspector will sign your papers. Your'e worrying about sending the Department of Motor Vehicles your white slip and a money order for your 1943 registration before Feb. 4.

But it's probably a heck of a lot less trouble than being in the engine room of an ammunition freighter or on a tank in the Africa desert. And we doubt if the trouble out-weighs the real value of the car for most folks. America today is built on individual transportation and we suffer acutely without it.

LEST WE FORGET

When he returned a few days ago from the South Pacific, Lieut.-Comdr. Leo J. Stanley said something which might well be pasted up on the bulletin boards of every war factory and over every desk of every labor leader in this country.

"In the war zone where I just came from," said Commander Stanley, "every minute may be the last for thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines.

"When I come back here and find war workers wasting days and even weeks because of some penny ante dispute, I don't need to tell you I am disheartened."

Lest we forget the sacred trust that we owe the fighting men of America, it is well that we have men, returning from the battle zone, who speak out bluntly against those at home who trifle with the lives of our boys in the service. The man who walks out on strike today blasts the life out of some American soldier he has left defenseless against our enemies. And that's something the wives and fathers and mothers of those boys will never forgive nor forget.

"Junior Miss" Starts at Curran Theater Jan. 24

With a great laughter provoking record of success behind it, "Junior Miss," the latest comedy hit staged by Max Gordon, producer of "My Sister Eileen," will start an engagement at the Curran theater, San Francisco, on Sunday evening, Jan. 24. Not only is "Junior Miss" presented by the producer of "Eileen," but it was written by the men who dramatized that roaring comedy, Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Field. It comes after an engagement of over 500 performances in New York.

One of the reasons for the success of "Junior Miss" is that it deals with the daily life of an ordinary family, and every spectator, grown up or adolescent, sees something of himself, his own folks or his friends in the characters on the stage. In this respect "Junior Miss" is very much like "Life With Father," which also brought home to the audiences the ludicrous aspects of every day family life, although girls are the central juvenile figures in the lively comedy coming to the Curran instead of boys.

Judy, the junior miss of the title (played by blonde, blue eyed, dimpled and demure Lenore Thomas), is a very young lady whose idea of what life really is has been acquired from the movies; and, therefore, she dramatizes the most innocent situations in terms of what she has seen on the screen. Her boon companion is "Fluffy," acted by Peggy Romano. Lois Wilson and Eddie Nugent are the sorely beset parents. Eileen Clarence is Judy's snippy elder, boy crazy sister; Harry Ellerbe and Adrienne Marden furnish the love interest; Loring Smith, a blustering big business tycoon and Renie Riano as an acid tongued maid, round out the principals in the well chosen cast of 22.

TWO MILES OF COPPER WIRE FOR TELEPHONE LINES

America needs bombers by the thousands and bombers need copper wire—about two miles of it to a plane. All critical materials like copper must go for war weapons—they are no longer available for new telephone equipment—bombers and tanks and ships and guns and shells come first.

And war calls come first on the telephone lines! Just to build one bomber takes about 12,000 telephone calls. Building thousands of planes, hundreds of ships . . . moving men and supplies . . . causes a flood of calls on the existing telephone lines that is the greatest in history.

To keep the lines open for war calls, we need your help. To war-busy centers, please make only calls that are essential.

Your understanding and your assistance are deeply appreciated.

MYSTERY WEEK

To the numerable fans of murderous mysteries, it doesn't seem entirely fair to give but one week in several to reviewing the new thrillers that have been received. However, let us attempt to atone for past practices and talk about several recent ones that are truly exciting and gory enough to please those of you who like them deadly and bloody.

First on our list appears that favorite author of thousands of us, Erle Stanley Gardner. His most recent chiller "The Case of the Smoking Chimney" is not a Perry Mason tale as immediately you will suspect. Instead Mr. Gardner brings forth another "Gramps Wiggins" tale. In this book Gramps Wiggins does a thorough and complete piece of detective snooping, unnoticed, and when the job is finished he goes along his happy and vagabond way, asking and wanting no recognition for his good work. Without any hesitation in predicting how far the character of Gramps will go with Mr. Gardner, I believe he runs neck and neck with Perry Mason.

Richard Hull, the English author who tells devilish tales of keen detective work has had "And Death Came—Too" released to the dealers. This is a fast moving, keeps-you guessing, type of story. It is modern and the characters are college boys and girls. The Saturday Review of Literature has this to say about the book, "Required reading . . ."

"The Emperor's Snuffbox" is John Dickson Carr's latest publication. Here is a book with the apparent climax at the immediate beginning of the story—the main character is found guilty at once and all clues ended up at this one person's feet. The locale is a small French resort town of La Bandelette and the people in the story are of English birth. This mystery is unique in its plan and desperately thrilling. Its plot is brilliant and the characters are out of the ordinary.

Our last book on the list to be spoken of in this issue is "The Fourth Mystery Book" published by Farrar & Rinehart as an annual treat. In this number you will find your favorites, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Mignon Eberhart, Philip Wylie, Q. Patrick and Dana Lyon, a San Jose writer, in addition to Hugh Pentecost. Here are six high-ranking mystery writers, contributing to this one edition for your exclusive thrilling enjoyment.

Grange Orchard City

The annual meeting of Orchard City Grange, Inc., was held during the regular meeting of the Grange, Jan. 12, in I. O. O. F. hall in Campbell. The important order of business was the election of a new board of directors for the corporation.

Those elected were Harry Barnes, Mervyn Keesling, Will Lester, Lambert Skillman and Stanley Smith.

The reading of the minutes of the meeting on Jan. 12, 1942 and the treasurers report were accepted. Grange committees for the ensuing year were appointed.

Kenneth Dwelley spoke on poultry, especially on home or backyard units for 12 hens each. He stressed the home production of foods and encouraged the carrying out of such a program to a great extent.

Manuel Miranda Retired Orchardist Died Saturday

Manuel F. Miranda, 83, retired orchardist and native of Madeira Islands, who resided on Foote avenue, passed away Saturday and requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Lucy's church Tuesday morning, with interment at Santa Clara.

Serving as pall bearers were Richard Texeira, Albert Texeira, Bennie Carvelho, George Silva, Thomas Miranda and Manuel Gouveia.

He is survived by sons, Manuel, John and Jack Miranda, and daughters, Mrs. Mary Silva of Hawaii, Mrs. Joseph Carvelho and Mrs. Ralph Texeira of Campbell.

Internment Of J. W. Fry Today

Rev. J. H. Bennett is conducting services this afternoon at the Rutherford Funeral Home for Mrs. Jeanette Fry, wife of J. W. Fry of Pollard road. Mrs. Virginia Rutherford is organist and David Rutherford is soloist. Interment is in Santa Clara City cemetery.

Mrs. Fry is survived by her husband, three sons in the service, Eugene Fry and Allan Fry in the U. S. Navy; and Oliver Fry of the U. S. Army; a daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Hartfield of Naples, Ill., and Gertrude Hartman, Helen William and Besse Jane Fry all of Campbell.

S. C. vs. Campbell Game Friday

Santa Clara is coming Friday afternoon expecting to trounce the Campbell hoopsters on their own floor, but Coach Ralph Noddin's Buccaneers are reading and waiting.

After last Friday's loss by such a narrow margin, the local boys hope to have the extra push to come out on the upper end of the score.

Although Coach Noddin has not definitely named the starting line-ups, they probably will be much the same as for last week, with many of the boys seeing action before the game is over.

Santa Clara's reputation is well known to Campbell players; so the Bucs know they will have to fight, but with the student body supporting them, they can win.

Mrs. Lulu Goodwin Called by Death

Mrs. Lulu Goodwin of Campbell passed away in San Jose Friday and services were held Sunday afternoon from the Rutherford Funeral Home, the Rev. J. H. Bennett reading the service. The body was sent to De Queen, Arkansas for interment.

Mrs. Goodwin was a native of Indiana, 54 years of age.

Mrs. Goodwin was the widow of Thomas Goodwin and mother of Mrs. Florence Hess of Smithville, Mo.; Mrs. Nellie Van Horn of Hartford City, Ind.; Mrs. Noble Kennerly of Campbell; Ralph Goodwin of Antioch; Harold Goodwin of Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. Ruth Wiley of DeQueen, Ark.; Mrs. Stella Baumgartner, Mrs. Mary Bowden, Charles, Thelma, and James Goodwin all of Campbell and stepson, T. E. Whalin of Alton, Illinois.

Butchering Class Held at School

A home butchering demonstration is to be given in the agriculture shop in Campbell High school at 7 o'clock Saturday evening.

This meeting is the first of a series on home butchering. This session will be the killing and butchering of a hog. All details will be actually gone through. The demonstration will be conducted by Walter Williams, skilled in home butchering. This demonstration is in anticipation of the many people who may butcher at home this winter and spring. All the public is invited and booklet information will be distributed.

Following this one on hog butchering sessions will be conducted in veal calves, rabbit and poultry and in meat cuts for home curing and locker cuts of veal and hops. Classes are being held at the school under the Rural War Production program on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10 in poultry and rabbit equipment building and Tuesday and Thursday evenings a course in building poultry and rabbit equipment.

Monday and Thursday, 7-10 are classes in farm machinery repair and Tuesday and Thursday, 7-9 classes in poultry production.

The Tando Campfire Girls for a second time could not hold their meeting in the Scout hall this week. But as the Campfire Girls cannot be defeated it was held in Mrs. Swane's school room again.

The treasurer read the secretary's report and then the meeting was rather informal.

What would be done at the "candy pull" next week was discussed. Each member will bring a little brown sugar to make some candy.

INCOME TAX INFORMATION

Every individual is allowed a credit against his net income which varies with his domestic status. This credit is known as personal exemption, and is shown on line 21 of the return Form 1040.

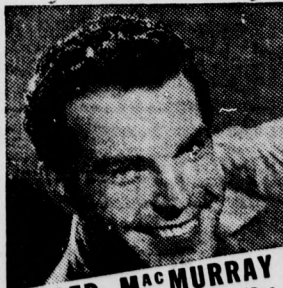

The personal exemption for a single person is $500 for the year; for a married person living with husband or wife, $1200; and for a "head of family," $1200.

A head of family is defined as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for those dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." A single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, may, therefore, enjoy a head of family exemption under certain conditions.

Taxpayers using a Simplified Return obtain personal exemption based on their status as of July 1 of the year. Thus, a taxpayer married and living with husband or wife on July 1 is entitled to $1200 personal exemption on Form 1040A; if he were a widower on July 1, his exemption would be $500, irrespective of the date on which he became a widower.

Taxpayers using return Form 1040 obtain personal exemption proportionate with the number of months during which the particular status is held. Thus, for a person who married on July 1 the personal exemption would be $850 ($250 for the six months as a single man, plus $600 for the six months as a married man). In this example it is assumed that the wife has no income.

Married persons may, however, file joint returns, even though one has no income, and by filing a joint return a couple married during the year may obtain an exemption amounting to the exemption to which they would be entitled for the period of married status, plus the amount of their individual exemption prior to their marriage.

Continuing Letters From Ruth Cowles

June 28, 1942

Dearest Mother:

In a recent letter from you, there was a gem of a poem, "High Flight." What an exquisite and what a triumphant affirmation of faith that is, and born out of the sordidness of war! Amazing!

For a day this week I was very anxious about "Bones." He got embroiled in a fight over a love affair and barely managed to crawl home with his dignity in the dust, and two severe wounds in his two back legs. For a few hours I thought he was going to die. We let him lie outstretched on the lawn with a blanket over him and only his two black ears and white head sticking out, much to the amusement of our human patients! Eventually the rest and the warmth of the sun, and hot bathing of his wounds brought him back to life. He is still very stiff, and it is evidently painful for him to get up, but tonight he had a good dinner for the first time since his combat, and he has been limping up and down the verandah steps today, so I guess he will survive. I should certainly hate to lose Bones, for he is really a great protection.

July 30, 1942

Where the days go, I simply do not know! And now another is closing and I feel I must just have a little visit with you before getting into bed with two hot water bottles. Outside is crisp bright moonlight, and a party of Basutos, (my neighbors) is practising a dance and songs for a wedding which is soon to take place. The music is all chanting, with beats emphasized by the thump of riage. In the example given the total exemption in a joint return would be $1100 ($250 for each spouse for six months plus $600 for six months married status).

If a husband and wife living together both have income and file separate returns on Form 1040, the personal exemption applicable to a married person may be taken in the return of either or divided between them in any way as they may agree, but the total personal exemption taken in the two separate returns may not exceed $1200.

bare feet upon the ground. It has a most weird effect. I wish I could send you the sound. This party has been doing this every night this week and I am sure must be nearing perfection by the enthusiasm and time spent in singing and dancing.

I must not write more tonight—it is simply ages since I heard a word from the U. S. A. I suppose it is the same with you. With all the sinking of ships that is going on, it is surprising that we get as much as we do.

Goodnight, Mother dearest. I'm going to bed with the wedding chant as a lullaby.

LIGHT

AS A WAR WORKER!

Adequate light and normal eyesight are essential tools in war production work today.

When war came, it brought a challenge to the lamp makers. With industries operating on a 24-hour daily schedule, lamp production had to be stepped up. And this had to be done without draining metals, materials and manpower needed elsewhere.

The lamp makers promptly went into war economies. They substituted ingenuity for scarcity.

And they have met completely and competently the production challenge of increased output presented by the war industries' demands.

As a result of these steps, light is not their only contribution to America's cause. Tons of vital metals were conserved. Solder, which is 50% tin, is now made of lead and silver. Lamp parts previously made of solid copper, nickel and brass, are now made of iron and steel, plated with copper, brass or nickel.

This is a story not only of industrial achievement but of earnest, carefully-planned patriotic cooperation in the war effort.
